Owsley teacher charged with drug use in school

An Owsley County substitute teacher was arrested Wednesday, May 7, at the elementary school on charges of public intoxication with a controlled substance and prescription controlled substances not in proper containers.

According to Booneville Police Chief Johnny Logsdon, Tina Young, 37 of Freeman Fork Road, Buckhorn, was arrested following a call to the Owsley County Sheriff's Office. The caller said a teacher at Owsley County Elementary was nodding off in the classroom.

Logsdon called the school principal, Alan Taylor, to ask him to check on the complaint. Taylor did a walk-through, and was told by a cook that the teacher was "high."

Taylor called Logsdon, who then went to the school with a sheriff's deputy.

Few debate; few listen

A relatively small crowd of interested citizens showed up to hear from a small group of candidates for Friday night's political debate/forum held at the PEP building.

Around 20 citizens heard from Michael Dean, candidate for circuit judge; Steve Lanham and Phyllis McCord, candidates for county judge/executive; Wendell "Bug Childers", incumbent and candidate for sheriff; and, L. C. "Bub" Reese, candidate for District 2 magistrate.

Dean was asked how a judge could keep the court docket small.

He said that a judge can "speed things along," by not allowing cases to be continued for longer than is necessary.

The judge, Dean said, can order the attorneys to have required motions and evidence provided at certain times.

Dean said there is no Drug Court in Estill

County, but he knows it exists in Lee and Owsley counties.

He said he believes in people having a second chance, but those of high risk should not be allowed in drug court.

Dean said he differs from his two opponents in that he has practiced both civil and criminal law. The other two, he said, have only practiced criminal law.

Steve Lanham and Phyllis McCord both said they would consider lowering the county's property tax rate (the highest in the state) so the schools could increase theirs (the lowest in the state). That would mean no increase in property taxes for property owners.

Michael Dean

Steve Lanham

They also agreed that county jobs should be advertised, as required in the county's administrative code.

Lanham suggested that a three-person board be established to interview prospective job candidates.

A citizen asked about job descriptions.

Again, both agreed that they should be required. McCord said that people need to know what is expected of them.

The two were asked about what would be done about hostile work environments.

Lanham said they would not be tolerated.

McCord said that each complaint would have to be investigated

Lanham said the due process must be followed.

Coal severance money has stopped for Lee County this year, but both were asked what they might do with it in the future.

Lanham (in answer to a question) said he would discuss using some of it to help the city with a new sewage treatment plant.

McCord said more needs to be spent on county roads. She said that school buses travel on dangerous roads.

Lanham was asked why he changed from Democrat to Republican.

Phyllis McCord

He said that when he was faced with choosing between Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama he just could not make a selection.

McCord said her number one priority was to seek jobs for Lee County. She said there are companies that are interested in the area, and she would make it more attractive for them to come.

Broadband, she said, is very important to job creation.

Lanham agreed about broadband. He also said that with all of the timber leaving the area some should be used here to build furniture. He also said the river needs to be exploited for job creation.

Lanham said his involvement in the community has included six and one half years as a volunteer sheriff's deputy, work with the Woolly Worm Festival and as a volunteer firefighter.

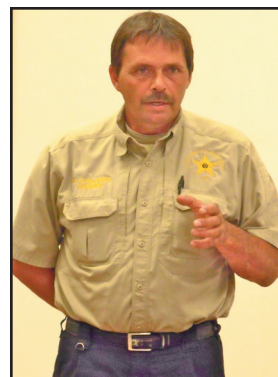

McCord said her community involvement has been mostly through her church and individually.

In summary, McCord said that she has experience, both in an agency and in running a business.

She said that if she is elected she will be open with all people, and added, "I promise I'll be honest."

Lanham said he would try to find alternatives to the way county business is now being conducted.

"Daylight would shine in and disinfect the courthouse," he said.

Wendell "Bug" Childers

Lee County Sheriff Wendell "Bug" Childers appeared, but none of his opponents came to the debate.

He said the county's roads are safer than they were when he came into office. He said his office received 3,300 calls in 2011, but that has declined to 2,100 now.

The main problem facing the county continues to be drugs, he said.

However, he said there are no "major players" selling drugs. Those, he said, are now in prison.

Childers said he has not been impressed with the results of drug court. He also said that people who manufacture methamphetamine should not be allowed in the program.

Asked what his number one need is, he said it is more officers. He said he has one full-time deputy and eight volunteers.

If he had to choose, he said he would prefer to share a detective than have another uniformed officer. That detective, he said, could fill the void left when Operation UNITE reduced its law enforcement role.

If he had a detective's position, he said he would open up the hiring to all qualified individuals across the nation, not to just one individual in Lee County.

"We have a drug problem, and we have to fight it. I'm up for whomever is qualified," he said.

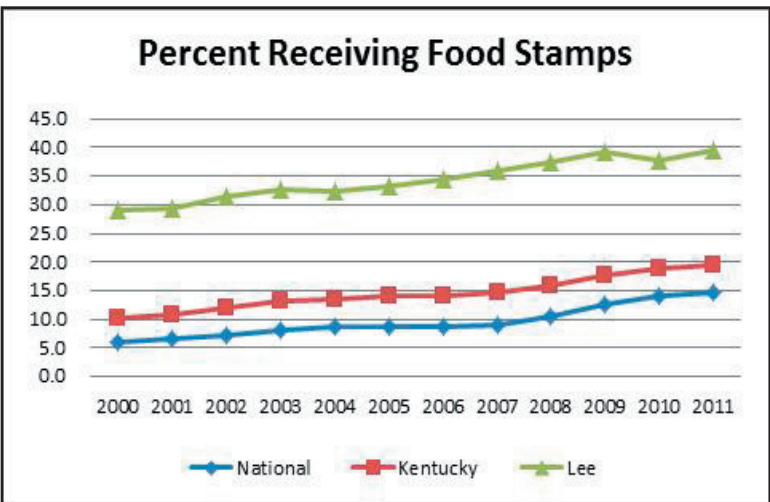

Childers said his office is stretched thin, but he has answered 90 percent of the calls that have come in. L.C. "Bub" Reese, who is a candidate for District 2 magistrate, said that invoices submitted to the county should be itemized.

As for county projects, he said he would suggest that two or three contractors be "looked at" before granting work.

He said there should not be meetings of the members of the fiscal court before the public meeting. He noted such meetings are illegal.

As a magistrate, Reese said he would question the judge/executive on the awarding of contracts. He

Use of food stamps rises in Lee County

By Emily Guerin and Tim Marema

The use of food stamps in Lee County increased during the recession, assisting families in stretching their food dollars, contributing to local spending and helping spark a national debate about the future of the federal nutrition program.

The proportion of Lee County residents receiving food stamps hit 39.6 percent in 2011, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Food and Nutrition Services. That's an increase of 3.7 percentage points since 2007, the year the recession started.

City looks at smaller budget

The Beattyville City Council Monday night gave first reading to its proposed 2014 - 2015 budget, with extensive discussion given to the hiring of a police detective.

The General Fund is proposed to be $887,070, down by $14,124 from the present budget.

Mayor John Smith said that the city projects $17,000 less in payroll taxes and $10,000 less in property taxes.

County budget - $5.5 million

The Lee County Fiscal Court last Thursday gave first reading to a $5.5 million proposed budget for Fiscal Year 2014-2015. The three largest elements are the General Fund, the Road Fund and the Ambulance Fund.

The General Fund is budgeted $1,725,191. The Road Fund has $1,555,710 set aside. There is $1,084,518 set for the Ambulance Fund. Solid Waste has $497,688; the Jail Fund has $394,259; and the Local Government Economic Assistance Fund (LGEA) has $269,577.

Finance Officer Pear Spencer said she hopes to have $190,000 of LGEA money left from this fiscal year to carry over.

Changes can be made before the second reading, but a final budget must be in place before July 1.

A resident of the Abner Flat Road, Tom Lutes, expressed his concern to the court about the safety of that road.

Lutes said that oil trucks and trucks carrying saltwater travel the road, which is narrow and curvy. He said that guardrails need

Dr. Evans gets perfect review

Lee County Schools Superintendent James Evans, Jr., received a perfect 10 evaluation by the Lee County School Board Tuesday night. That followed a celebration earlier in the evening for Evans having recently completing his doctorate at Morehead State University.

Board Chair William Evans said that the score was unanimous. He was then offered a four-year contract, which he accepted.

The board is to negotiate a salary increase for Evans, which will be based on his obtaining his doctorate. In fact, the board is to add a category in the salary schedules for people who receive their doctoral degrees.

Also during Tuesday night's regular monthly board meeting, Tim Murphy of the architectural firm of Murphy – Graves – Trimble assured the board that the soil around Southside Elementary was not dangerous. During last month's meeting, Murphy's assistant had reported that the land, upon which some of the additions to the building are to be constructed, was unstable and would have to be removed. She said it was full of fill dirt and rotting matter, such as trees.

Murphy said, "We don't have terrible soils. This is nothing alarming."

He said that some of the soil would be removed and dried because it is moist with some organic material. After drying, the soil would be used again.

Evans added, "We're not building a dangerous building."

Murphy also said that the process of renovating and adding to the school is in the "completing construction documents" phase.

He said bidding for construction is going to be a couple of weeks off from the original schedule.

Finance Officer Zina Gibson reported that she anticipates $292,750 being carried forward from this fiscal year to the next.

According to Evans that is well below the more than $400,000 from last year. Decreased revenue is the cause of the difference.

Evans informed the board that he had received a letter of resignation from board member Melissa L. Judd. He said she cited her busy schedule as the reason for the resignation.

He said that names of people interested in replacing Judd would be sent to the commissioner of education, who will select a person to take her place. That person would serve the two years left on Judd's term, and could then seek election.

Summer school is to be from June 16 through July 11 this year.

Beattyville Elementary Principal Maureen Patrick told the board that 100 percent of the kindergarten students at the school are reading at or above grade level.

The percentages for other grades are: First – 82 percent, Second – 82 percent, Third – 75 percent, Fourth – 82 percent and Fifth – 73 percent.

Math for first grade was 88 percent at or above grade level. Second was 94 percent; Fourth 88 percent; and Fifth 77 percent. Third grade was either skipped or could not

SOAR comes to Lee County

Submitted by Chuck Caudill

On Wednesday, May 28th at 5 PM, the SOAR (Shaping Our Appalachian Region) "Leadership Development and Youth Engagement Working Group" is coming to Lee County. This Working Group is the entry level for many of us to make contributions to SOAR initiative which has been created and endorsed by Congressman Hal Rogers and Governor Steve Beshear.

Whether you believe this is a good idea or not, this initiative is eating up hundreds of thousands of dollars and using up valuable personnel and time resources to promote a new way of approaching decades old problems which have plagued our region. If you care about the future of Eastern Kentucky and Lee County, this is a chance for you to give your input. That is the main reason this group is coming to Lee County-to hear your input.

There are prayer meetings going on that night, but please consider faith is a key element in developing leaders and engaging youths. What better place is there to start that engagement and keep faith at the forefront of the new initiatives? Ministers, educators, Non-profits, business owners and community leaders, this is a chance to move out those stove pipes and share with one community voice, what the issues are from everyone's perspective.

People Encouraging People (PEP) will be coordinating the meeting locally, so please contact PEP at 606-464-0494 (leave a message on the machine if no one is there) and let us know you are attending. The number responding will determine where the meeting will take place.

Bring a friend. Bring your civic club. Bring your church.

be heard.

Southside Elementary Principal Steve Carroll said that over 60 percent of students in all classes at the school are at proficient or distinguished.

Lee County High School Principal Mark Murray said that 86 percent of students are college/career ready, and that he is pushing for 90 to 91 percent.

Director of Pupil Personnel Ray Shuler said that district attendance stood at 93.55 percent as of Monday. At the same time last year it was 92.83 percent.

He said attendance during the last three weeks has been especially good. He said that helps students prepare for state testing, which begins next week.

In my opinion

By Edmund Shelby

I learned several things from last Friday night's political debate/forum held at the PEP building.

Very few citizens want to hear from the candidates who want to work for them.

Very few candidates have the intestinal fortitude to stand before voters and tell them why they should be elected.

Sheriff Wendell "Bug" Childers is the only incumbent who was willing to defend his record in public.

The debate/forum was an informative session of democracy at its best.

I hope everyone is knowledgeable about the people who want to be their public servants, and I further hope that they get out and vote next Tuesday.

Dear Editor

Dear Editor:

I really enjoyed the debate/forum last Friday night at the PEP building.

I had the opportunity to meet Michael Dean, who is running to replace Tom Jones, who is retiring this year. We will definitely miss you Tom, but Mr. Dean impressed me as a very good replacement.

I also got to meet Steve Lanham for the first time – a very nice gentleman, who is also running for Lee County judge/executive on the Republican ticket.

We found we have some ideas in common, but also some differences in how to execute those ideas.

Last Thursday I was told, "Nobody in their right mind would go to the debate/forum because it was a set-up."

I figured "set-up" meant if you didn't have the confidence to answer the people's questions or defend your record you wouldn't want to be there.

So, those in their "right" mind stayed away, while those of us with an "open" mind went and enjoyed the event.

I'll admit it is easier for those of us running for the first time, we don't have a record to defend. But that's politics.

The people that were there got to ask questions of the candidates, some pre-submitted to the moderator and some not, and were able to draw their own conclusions about the candidates based on the answers they received. Overall it was a pretty open forum and I appreciated the opportunity. I wish we could do more of them.

SMOKING GUN

According to a recent population-based study, smokers are more likely to need cataract surgery. Researchers found that smoking more than 15 cigarettes per day led to a 42% higher likelihood of needing cataract surgery during 12 years of follow-up. The good news to report is the fact that the study also found that giving up the smoking habit reduced the need for cataract surgery (but not to the level of someone who had never smoked). Generally speaking, the longer a person smokes, the longer it takes for his or her risk of developing cataracts to decline once he or she decides to quit. That means that even smokers with a 15-a-day habit remained at significant risk 20 years after quitting.

Avoiding smoking, or quitting, is one of the best investments you can make in your long-term eye health. The effects of smoking on your eyes and vision may be significant. You know that smoking or being exposed to tobacco smoke can cause damage to your health, but it can also increase your risk for developing a number of eye disorders and diseases. When is the last time you had your eyes examined? At KENTUCKY EYE INSTITUTE, we recommend a yearly eye examination. We're located at 540 Jett Drive. A different view

By Betty Crabtree

In reading the Scripture we should ask ourselves to whom was the writer talking to; what was he talking about; when was 'it' supposed to take place; and where. So in reading Matthew 24:37, "But as the days of Noah were, so also will be the coming of the Son of Man be."

This was in answer to the question the disciples asked Him in Verse 3 of 24. In this chapter Jesus was teaching the disciples about the destruction of the literal temple (which happened about 70 years later), His second coming, AND the end. His teaching is all interwoven..

But, since Verse 37 concerns the present time (probably) what was it like in the days of Noah? Eating, drinking, marrying; hmm, gotta' be more than that.

Let's see what Genesis 6:5 says, "Then the Lord saw the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every intent (or thought) of his heart was evil continually (or all day)."

Verse 21 says the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth. Verse 13, Chapter 6 says the earth is filled with violence through them.

I could go on and on with comparisons of today such as world wars, Syria, Iraq, Afghanistan, Russia, Ukraine, Africa, the streets of the U.S.A., school and workplace shootings, such negative, depressing things!

Let's switch gears here. There is hope!

Isaiah 51:5, "My righteousness is near, my salvation has gone forth, and my arms will judge the peoples...And on my arm they will trust."

Chapter 52:7, "Your God reigns." Chapter 52:13 speaks of the sin bearing servant. Philippians 2:9, "Therefore God also had Highly Exalted Him and given Him the name which is above every name."

There is an invitation to Abundant Life in Chapter 55:1 of Isaiah, John 7:37 Jesus says, "IF anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink."

Verse 38, "He who believes in Me, as the Scripture has said (John 7:38) out of his heart will flow rivers of living water."

Let me close with these verses from Romans 5:15 and 18-19. "But the free gift is not like the trespass or false step, for if by one man's offense many died, much more the grace of God and the gift by the grace of the one Man, Jesus Christ, abounded to many." Verse 18, "Therefore...through one Man's righteous act the free gift came to all men, resulting in justifying life." Verse 19, "For by (Adam's disobedience many were made sinners, so also by one Man's (Jesus) obedience many will be made righteous."

We got hope! Thank you Jesus!

Fern Sweigert

Fern Arlene Sweigert was born in Mohnton, Pennsylvania on April 6, 1926 and departed this life at the Kentucky River Medical Center on May 5, 2014 at the age of 88 years and 29 days. At the young age of 19, she came to Glenn Eden to begin her teaching career. At the time the roads were dirt and mostly traveled by foot or horse. At the age of 22, Fern was placed here as a missionary through the Canyon Falls Evangelical Congregational Church. A few years later, her lifelong friend and co-educator, Pauline Horst, would join her in her journey. Fern taught school for 50+ years. She devoted her entire life as a beloved follower of Jesus Christ. Fern held many positions with the Canyon Falls Church over the years. These included: President of the Church Board, President of Sunday School, President of the Missionary Society, President of the Willing Workers, Director of DVBS, Director of the Youth Programs, Director of Christmas and Easter plays, teaching Sunday School, leading Bible Studies, and delivering sermons when the church was in between pastors. She loved serving God and encouraged everyone to do the same.

Fern is survived by one sister, Marion (Chet) Ensinger and one brother-in-law, Mark Gehr of Ephrata, Pennsylvania.

She is preceded in death by her parents, Brita and Parke Sweigert of Denver, Pennsylvania and one sister Eva Ann Gehr, of Ephrata, Pennsylvania. Miss Sweigert never married or had any natural children; however, she has many spiritual children.

Funeral Services were held Thursday, May 8, 2014 at the Newnam Funeral Home Chapel with Bro. John Abner and Bro. Buddy Johnson officiating. Burial is in the Canyon Falls Evangelical Congregational Church on Highway 708 in Lee County.

Pallbearers were friends and family.

2014 Lee County High School Softball Team

The Lee County High School softball team played the last game of their regular season Tuesday at Reese Field. They defeated Owsley County.

Senior Spotlight- Courtney Walker

Courtney Walker, a senior this year at Lee County High School, is the daughter of Angie Becknell and Duane Walker. Throughout her four years of high school, Courtney's favorite classes are Physics and Calculus, and her favorite teachers are Mrs. Cable and Mr. Miller. The clubs and activities that Courtney took part in are BETA, FBLA, Chess, Volunteer work for FFA, and Berea's Upward Bound. When thinking back on her four years of high school, her favorite memory is playing cards in Mr. Land's room. When asked what her experience at LCHS was like, she said, "Madding, tiresome, fun and full of laughs." When thinking back on the thing that she will miss most, Courtney stated, "The people in my class and the library." Courtney's favorite quote is, "I guess we are who we are for a lot of reasons. And maybe we'll never know most of them. But even if we don't have the power to choose where we came from, we can still choose where we go from there."—Perks of Bing a Wall Flower. Courtney's future plans are to attend Berea and study English, Business, and Graphic Design. Courtney leaves this advice to future students, "Take the hard classes even if you don't want to, do Mr. Miller's homework, and enjoy being in high school. Because before you know it, it's over."

Senior Spotlight- Sarah Phillips

Sara Phillips, a senior this year at Lee County High School, is the daughter of Kenneth and Billie Phillips. Throughout her four years of high school, Sarah's favorite class is Agriculture, and her favorite teacher is Mr. Bennett. The clubs and activities that Sarah took part in are FFA, FBLA, LCHS Bobcat Camera Girl, Bobcat Talk Team, and BETA Club. When asked what her experience at LCHS was like she said, "I didn't expect anything more." Sarah's favorite high school memories are winning boys basketball districts in 2011, FBLA competition, and prom. When thinking back, on the one thing she will miss the most Sarah stated, "The comfort of knowing everyone. Always being in the same routine of high school." Sarah's favorite quote is, "You build on failure. You use it as a stepping stone. Close the door on the past. You don't try to forget the mistakes, but you don't dwell on it. You don't let it have any of your energy, or any of your time, or any of your space."—Johnny Cash. Sarah's future plans are to attend college and obtain a bachelor's degree in business and just be successful and happy. For all the future students of LCHS, Sarah says, "You'll always regret the chances you didn't take, so take every chance that comes your way. Get outside of your comfort zone and try something new. Do whatever it is that will make you happy. And never let anyone hold you back from reaching your full potential."

Bailey named Rogers Scholar

Lee County High School student William "Austin" Bailey has been named a 2014 Rogers Scholar. Lee County High School student William "Austin" Bailey has been selected by The Center for Rural Development to represent Lee County as a 2014 Rogers Scholar. Austin, 16, a sophomore, will join 60 high school students from Southern and Eastern Kentucky this summer for the Rogers Scholars program on the campus of Lindsey Wilson College. Rogers Scholars, the flagship youth program of The Center, is an intensive one-week summer program that provides leadership and exclusive college scholarship opportunities for students to build their skills as the region's next generation of leaders and entrepreneurs. "I am excited to get hands-on experience in an area that will help me grow as a student as well as an individual," said Austin. "It is my goal to receive a degree in computer science and help this area develop so we can compete not only statewide but worldwide." Austin is the son of Bill and Phyllis Bailey of Beattyville. The Rogers Scholars program was created by U.S. Congressman Hal Rogers so that "no young person should have to leave home to find his or her future." "The program emphasizes the development of skills in fields like science, technology and healthcare, and instills in participants a sense of leadership, an entrepreneurial spirit, and a commitment to rural Kentucky," said Delaney Stephens, youth programs coordinator and community liaison for The Center. "We are proud to announce the 2014 Class of Rogers Scholars and look forward to working with each of these participants this summer at the 17th annual Rogers Scholars program." This year's dates for the Rogers Scholars program are June 22-27 and July 6-11. Seventeen colleges and universities partner with The Center to offer exclusive college scholarship opportunities to Rogers Scholars graduates who successfully complete all of the program requirements.

Moore advances to state

Dylan Moore was in the top four of the high school tennis region and will be playing this Thursday in Lexington in the Boys High School State Tennis tournament. Congratulations and good luck Lee County high student Dylan Moore!

The Lee County High School Softball team will be having an auction/dinner fundraiser Saturday, May 7 at Happy Top at 6:00 pm. We have a lot of nice auction items! Dinner will be your choice of sloppy joes or hot dog, chips, dessert and a drink for only $5.00. Come out and support these wonderful girls!

Elect Phyllis Newman McCord, Republican candidate for Lee County Judge Executive.

A candidate who has not accepted any campaign donations from anyone, though the offers were appreciated.

A candidate who believes honesty, integrity and hard work are not just words, but a way of life: That all people should be heard and their concerns receive fair and equal treatment as required by law.

A candidate who will work hard to bring jobs and prosperity back to Lee county by going after those companies (and they are out there) that would want to invest here.

If you believe as I do that there are opportunities out there with the potential for a better life here at home, then I ask that you vote #4 on the ballot for Lee County Judge Executive.
Thank you

“Debate” from Front

L.C. “Bub” Reese

would want to know if the contractors are bonded and insured.

In summary, he said he is probably the most qualified candidate for the job because of his three terms as county judge/executive.

“I know how to get things done,” he said. “I know which buttons to touch.”

None of Reese’s opponents appeared at the debate.

“Teacher” from Front

Logsdon conducted a field sobriety test on Young, which she failed.

He arrested her at 1:15 p. m., and she was lodged in the Three Forks Regional Jail.

Logsdon said that he found several pills loose in Young’s purse. They included a 7.5 mg hydrocodone, four butalbital, and eight 10 mg hydrocodone in her eyeglass case.

He said she had told him that she had taken some medication at home before going to work. The medicine was one butalbital and one neurotin.

Logsdon said Young also had another identification on her that gave her last name as Herald.

He said that he also believed she resided in Owsley County, not in Buckhorn.

Owsley County Schools Superintendent Tim Bobrowski told the Enterprise Tuesday that Young had substituted only periodically, Bobrowski said, and she had been drug tested before starting employment.

He said her employment is suspended pending the outcome of the legal proceedings. Also, he said he had notified the certifying agency for teachers. If she is found guilty she could lose her teaching certification.

“City” from Front

The fund, he said, has dropped by $40,000 over the last three years.

It is because of tight funds that the council members said that they cannot afford a detective now, who would be shared with the sheriff’s office.

All members agreed that a detective is needed to fill the void left when Operation UNITE reduced its law enforcement presence.

Smith said that the city’s part in paying for a detective would be between $30,000 and $40,000.

He said the budget he was proposing was balanced, and he looked where he might make cuts (including $5,000 from Parks and Recreation) to make room for a detective. However, he said that with all of the cuts the city could still not afford the officer.

Police Chief Greg Brandenburg said that the drug work done over the past few years has paid off, and that overall crime in the city is down because of that.

He said, though, that unless someone is assigned to attack the drug issue it will increase again along with crime.

He said that the detective would also take on other duties such as taking material to the State Police lab in London, and filling in for officers when needed.

Brandenburg said that he and Lee County Sheriff Wendell Childers had talked with the Jackson Police chief about possibly sharing a detective, but Jackson is also low on money.

The council members agreed that talks with surrounding agencies should continue to be held, and that the matter of wanting a detective could be looked at again, possibly this fall.

The other parts of the proposed budget are: $470,000 for sewer; $1.3 million for water; and $217,000 for garbage.

Also during Monday night’s regular meeting, the council learned that so far for this fiscal year, the General Fund is in the black by $127,743; Garbage by $23,624; Sewer by $7,433; and Water in the red by $6,567.

The council agreed to a resolution to permit the state Transportation Cabinet to replace the second bridge on Silver Creek.

Agreement was given to the writing off of $56,688 in utility bills, some that go back as far as 1998. The reasons for the write offs include people moving out of the community and others dying.

The council went into executive session to discuss a personnel issue in the Garbage Department.

“Food Stamps” from Front

Across Kentucky, 19.3 percent of residents in 2011 received support from the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), as the food stamp program is officially known. Nationally, 14.8 percent of the population receives SNAP benefits.

Places like Lee County, which are located outside metropolitan areas, tend to have a higher percentage of the population receiving SNAP benefits. That’s because incomes are generally lower in nonmetropolitan counties.

The inflation-adjusted median household income in Lee County in 2011 was $25,655, compared to the Kentucky median of $42,610. Nationally, median household income was $52,306 in 2011.

In 2011, residents of Lee County received a combined $5,911,851 in SNAP benefits. The USDA reports that each $5 in SNAP benefits generates $9.20 in spending.

SNAP benefits start to circulate in the economy quickly.

“Turner” from Front

Turner was arrested at 11 a. m. on warrants for eight charges: fleeing or evading police in the first degree, receiving stolen property under $10,000, wanton endangerment in the first degree (police officer), theft by unlawful taking (auto) $500 or more but under $10,000, receiving stolen property under $10,000, receiving stolen property under $10,000, receiving stolen property under $10,000 and persistent felony offender second.

He was lodged in the Three Forks Regional Jail with no bond set as of Tuesday mid-afternoon.

Turner is alleged to have stolen a vehicle on April 21. He was eluding police on KY 52 East when he lost control of the vehicle and hit a gasoline pump at Stacey’s Grocery, according to police.

He then allegedly hid in a dumpster until found. He suffered several injuries and was flown to the University of Kentucky Hospital for treatment. Before charges could be brought, Turner was released from the hospital, and allegedly stole another vehicle.

Turner was found guilty of the 2008 burglary of the Lee County Sheriff’s Office. He had entered the office through the ceiling and took several items including some firearms.

Participants spend nearly all their food stamps within one month of receipt, according to a study by the University of New Hampshire Carsey Institute.

Grocers say they feel the impact of SNAP and other USDA nutrition programs like Women, Infants and Children (WIC).

“Without SNAP and WIC, we wouldn’t be able to make it,” wrote the owner of the Mill City Market in the small town of Mill City, Ore., in a survey of rural grocers conducted by the Oregon Food Bank and Kansas State University Rural Grocery Initiative.

Owners know they have to stock the shelves to prepare for more business when SNAP benefits hit the streets, said David Procter with the Rural Grocery Initiative

It’s not just the mom-and-pop stores that see a bump from food-stamp spending in small towns and rural areas. Walmart reported in a recent Securities and Exchange Commission filing that a decrease in SNAP benefits last year could affect the retail giant’s bottom line.

Average SNAP benefits nationally fell about $30 a month per family in November after a temporary increase that was part of the 2009 economic stimulus package. More funding decreases are on the way.

This summer, Congress agreed to trim about $8 billion from SNAP over the next decade. Backers of the cuts said the program had expanded too much in recent years and was creating too much reliance on government assistance. SNAP expenditures increased 135 percent between 2007 and 2011.

U.S. Rep. Eric Cantor (Va.-R) backed a measure that would have removed SNAP from the farm bill entirely.

“While [SNAP] is an important part of our safety net, our overriding goal should be to help our citizens with the education and skills they need to get back on their feet so that they can provide for themselves and their families,” Rep. Cantor said during congressional debate.

Food stamps have been part of the farm bill for the past 50 years. The legislation’s combination of farming and nutrition programs has helped ensure the bill receives broad backing from farm-country representatives and more urban-based members who support anti-poverty programs.

That alliance was tested but held with the passage of the 2014 farm bill.

Data for this article came driving the road, and the possibility of a toxic spill into the water.

“There is going to be a catastrophe,” he said.

Judge/Executive Steve Mays said he and Road Foreman Ferrell Wise would examine the road the following Monday.

Also during the meeting, the court approved a resolution for county employees to participate in a voluntary deferred compensation plan. The employees get to choose if they want an IRA, Roth IRA or 401K.

Roscoe Moore asked the court to consider using its call-out telephone system to notify residents of obituaries. He said that people who work out of town don’t know who has died until some days later when the newspapers come out. By then, he said, it is to late to visit.

Mays said he would contact the Kentucky Association of Counties to see if it is alright.

Several bids were opened and approved.

Hinkle Contracting was the only, and so then successful bidder for limestone rock and gravel. Depending on size and type the prices per ton picked up at the quarry are $8.50, $9.60, $10.20, $11, $11.75 and $12.50.

The same company was the only, and so then successful bidder for asphalt material for county roads. Asphalt base or binder is $84.25 per ton, asphalt surface is $85.25 per ton and asphalt tack-oil is $2.50.

Workman Oil won the gasoline bid. The bid is cost plus freight and applicable taxes, plus 7.5 cents per gallon markup.

Diesel fuel went to Kentucky Petroleum. It is cost, plus applicable taxes, freight and a .0490 cents per gallon markup.

Hudson Mater won the bid for road oil.

The bid decisions for culverts and plastic pipe were tabled until June 12.

The court accepted bids for some surplus equipment.

Kent Creech was the only bidder on four old ambulances that had been stripped. The bid was $820.

Clinton Frye was the low bidder for a 1994 Ford Crown Vic. His bid of $505 just beat out Johnny Thorpe’s $500. Other bids were 409 by Brian Caudill, $401 by Bobby Fox and $200 by Willie Smith.

NOTICE!!!!
It is again time for us to begin asking for help in mowing the graves of our departed family and friends. (The Steele Graveyard is next to the vocational school). Since we try to mow everyone’s lot, we must again ask for donations to pay for this service. If interested, please contact Brenda Jackson, Rissi Perdue, or Norma Moore. Respectfully, Norma Moore to be installed and the road widened in places. He said he fears for the safety of people

“County” from Front

To the voters of the Beattyville and Lee County. My family and I would once again like to ask for your vote in the upcoming state representative’s race. We have many problems facing us every day with families being affected by drug abuse and the lack of facilities in which to treat these victims. Everyone who is connected with this overwhelming condition faces the same problem.....nowhere to turn for help. The current rehabilitation facilities have a long wait time for patients to receive treatment and after treatment is completed, there is nowhere for them to receive any further care or follow-up. I am dedicated to working on these devastating issues.

Another huge concern of mine is the lack of jobs for persons seeking employment. A number of my voters have lost their jobs due to cutbacks in the coal industry. I will work diligently to promote any form of employment that can be brought to our district. Please consider me as your democratic candidate for state representative in the 91st District.

Thank you from my family and myself,

KSP - selling safety through magic

Observing its 65th anniversary

As KSP continues to observe its 65th anniversary through July 1 of this year, the following article takes a look back at one trooper who played a unique, high-visibility role in the history of the agency.

Long before the days of email, smart phones and social media, one Kentucky State Police pioneer was blazing a trail using innovation and outside-the-box thinking to spread safety messages throughout Kentucky.

As a member of the Fayette County Patrol in the 1930s, Lee Allen Estes watched children fidget and yawn during safety lectures presented by police officers. Feeling that a lesson must be “heard” to be “learned,” he had an idea. He would “make the words stick by illustrating them with a trick.”

A student of magic tricks, illusions and ventriloquism from an early age, Estes developed a travelling show that entertained children while presenting messages about fire, bicycle and general safety. The program was a rousing success from the start with children, schools and adults throughout the state.

Word of Estes’ efforts spread and he soon joined the Kentucky Highway Patrol and later the Kentucky State Police. As a sergeant and later a lieutenant, he took the show to schools and civic organizations around the Kentucky State Police Lt. Lee Allen Estes entertained both children and adults with safety themed magic tricks and ventriloquism throughout the state during the 1940s state during the 1940s, 50s and 60s.

He was no “suitcase magician” however. He traveled in a specially-built, two-ton truck that carried eight trunks full of stunts and gadgets. His equipment was valued at more than $5,600 and his hands were insured for $5,000. His 50-90 minute shows required two hours to set up and an hour to tear down. Prior to a performance, he sent a complete show script to each school with stage directions and piano sheet music. He required piano accompaniment for each show.

Putting his own spell on safety, Estes would tie each trick to a safety message. Multi-colored silk handkerchiefs would appear from nowhere. There were balloon illusions, a magic ball and yes, he pulled a rabbit out of a hat. He would tear a paper cone to bits and turn them into a lace banner bearing a “Safety First” slogan. Estes was especially proud of his “amputation” illusion, where a subject placed their arm in a special box and the arm appeared to be severed when two steel bars were inserted through the top. He used this trick to highlight the danger of sticking one’s arm outside the window of a school bus. He reinforced the message by telling the children that in 1941 one company alone manufactured 63 artificial arms for persons injured in such accidents.

Assisting Estes in his shows were two pop-eyed, big-mouthed ventriloquist dummies: Willie Talk and Kenny Talk. Wearing uniforms identical to Estes’, the sassy figures had moveable eyebrows and could talk, laugh and spit. They delighted the kids by jabbering about safety and bantering back and forth with Estes. As much fun as the show was, it was also hard work. Estes practiced three to four hours a day to perfect his tricks and illusions and make sure they had both entertainment and educational value. Since the vast majority of his audiences were made up of children, he faced a constant challenge: it’s difficult to get children to follow misdirection (diverting the audiences’ attention is one of a magician’s secrets of success).

But that didn’t hold Estes back. He said he would rather perform for children than adults. One testament to his skills, however, is impressive. He was once invited to present a special show to the International Brotherhood of Magicians.

Once dubbed the “Houdini of the Highways” by the press, Estes passed away in 1967. Willie Talk and Kenny Talk still live on as part of the collection of the Vent Haven Museum in Ft. Mitchell, Ky., a tribute to KSP’s early use of innovation and a silent reminder of a slower-paced time when live, face-to-face communication brought smiles, laughter and understanding to children and adults throughout the Commonwealth.

I am

Wendell “Bug” Childers Jr.,

your Sheriff, and I am asking for you to re-elect me so I can continue to serve you, the people of Lee county.

Going into the Sheriff’s Office was a new experience for me, but one that I wanted and feel that I have served well. I have strived to learn all the aspects of this office which are far more than law and order. This includes lots of paperwork, taxes, summons, warrants and much more. I have attended many trainings and conferences helping me to do the best job possible.

By updating the software system in our office, the tax collection system is more efficient and accurate. The backlog of uncollected taxes of previous years has been improved and has brought thousands of tax dollars to our county. Annual tax collections have also improved. As of April 15, 2014, $2, 110, 389.51 has been collected in land taxes, $386,100.60 in oil taxes, and $221, 231.62 in franchise taxes for the 2013 tax year.

Prior to my term in office the death rate due to drugs in Lee County was at 8% in 2010. It is now at 2%, proving our diligent work against drugs in our county. We are working hard to reduce theft that often is related to the drug problem. Working to provide a safer community is my primary concern.

I feel that I have been a Sheriff for the people, being on call 24-7 trying to make every emergency call to the best of my ability. I have been there for you if and when you have needed me. If I have missed something I apologize, for I am only human and it would be impossible for me to be at all places at all times.

Finally, I ask you to stop and think about what you have with me as your Sheriff before you consider anyone else. If I have been unable to talk to you personally I apologize, but with my duties it is impossible to get around to everyone. I have been an honest and faithful servant to Lee County. I have the most experience and the most formal training, and as your friend and Sheriff, the proof of what I have done in office the last three and a half years for Lee County.

Thank you,

SHERIFF

RE-ELECT “CHILDERS” FOR SHERIFF

Paid for my Wendell Childers Jr.

My name is

and I want to be your next Circuit Judge.

I have lived in Estill

County for over 17

years. I was the Estill

County Attorney for 10 years, and became

Commonwealth Attorney in 2007. I have been in that office for over 7 years.

I met my husband Chris in high school in Letcher County and we have been married 20 years. We have 2 children

Erin, 18 and Matthew, 14. I believe everyone should have their say in court and I would do my absolute best to make fair decisions. With 17 years experience in the court system in this circuit, I’m the candidate most familiar with the people here and the issues we face. Judge’s racers are nonpartisan, which means you can vote for whichever candidate you like, regardless whether you’re a Republican or Democrat. There are 3 candi-

The Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is accurate as of March 18, 2014. The APR and interest rate are based upon a variety of assumptions and conditions. RHS/USDA loans have location restrictions and income limits. The property loan approval and terms are dependent upon the specific characteristics of your loan transaction and your credit history up to the time of closing along with Peoples Exchange Bank underwriting criteria. No down payment is required for this type of loan; however, you may be required to pay closing costs and prepaid expenses at closing. Property must be located in an eligible area. Income limits apply to all members of the household and differ depending on the County. 100% financing is eligible for existing homes or construction. There is no requirement for “first-time” home buyer. No penalty for pre-payment. An example of repayment is 360 payments of $64.42 per $10,000 borrowed. The monthly payment amount displayed includes principal, interest, property taxes, homeowner’s insurance and required USDA annual fee. The APR for this loan product reflects the interest rate and approximate cost of the prepaid finance charges, but does not include other closing costs or discount points.
